A relaxing sojourn in Dunning

The charming village of Dunning is located at the foot of the Ochil Hills just a few miles east of Auchterarder. St Serf's Church, in the village centre, houses the Dupplin Cross, a magnificent 9 foot high example of Pictish stonework said to have been erected by Kenneth MacAlpin to mark the union of the Scots and the Picts. (In the care of Historic Scotland, open daily until end Sept). On a more macabre note, the village is also home to the Maggie Wall's Monument, which commemorates the last witch burned at the stake in 1657. (1 mile/1.5km west of the village beside the B8062).

Cafes and hotel in the village for refreshments and lunches.

Discover the Royal Burgh of Stirling

Visit Stirling Castle - perched on a rocky crag, this is one of the grandest castles in Scotland and you should allow at least half a day to get round. Nearby, on the Castle Esplanade, is the Royal Burgh of Stirling Visitor Centre which has an exciting multi-lingual audio-visual presentation. Learn about the horrors of prison life in the Old Town Jail or, for something more genteel, take a tour of Argyll's Lodging, a restored 17th century mansion house. For art lovers there's the Tolbooth Arts Centre and Smith Art Gallery and Museum.
